Police committee releases report

by Susan Grober

Minden council has been asked to consider a number of recommendations made by the municipality's Community Policing Committee.

Committee Chairman Doug Campbell attended the March 26 Minden council meeting to discuss a report on the committee's focus groups held with residents of the municipality.

The mandate of the committee is to provide a link between the Ontario Provincial Police and residents of Minden Village. As part of this mandate, the committee hosted a series of four public meetings focussing on different interest groups in Minden: senior citizens, parents of school-age children, young people and business owners.

Through these meetings, the committee solicited opinions and ideas from participants about the state of police services, possible problems which may exist, and ways to improve conditions in the community.

Overall, there was no specific mention of crime-related problems which threaten residents. In fact, according to the report, several people made a point of telling committee members how secure they feel living in the village.

However, as a result of the ideas shared and the information gathered, the committee has come up with 11 recommendations aimed at making Minden a better place to live.

These recommendations fall under separate headings, as follows:

The Needs of Young People

The report states that the dominant issue at all four focus groups was the need to provide supervised activities for young people.

The need for a drop-in centre was stressed as an ideal place for young people to socialize with peers, receive guidance on the problems and challenges of adolescence, and explore a variety of activities as they find out where their interests lie.

Several people also expressed a need for an open-air ice surface for skating or hockey, because free skating is only available at the arena for a couple of hours a week, and these times are often cancelled because of hockey or figure skating activities.

Recommendation 1: That a committee be established to investigate, design and implement a wide variety of youth-oriented activities with special emphasis on the creation of a youth drop-in centre. Membership of the committee should consist of representation from churches, service clubs, parents, the municipality, youth organizations and young people.

Recommendation 2: That a municipal open air skating rink be established for the 1992/93 winter season.

Improving Police Service

Several people commented that community policing hasn't met expectations with regard to increased police presence in the village. Some felt the constables spend too little time either in the downtown office or on the beat, where the opportunity for interaction with the public is the greatest.

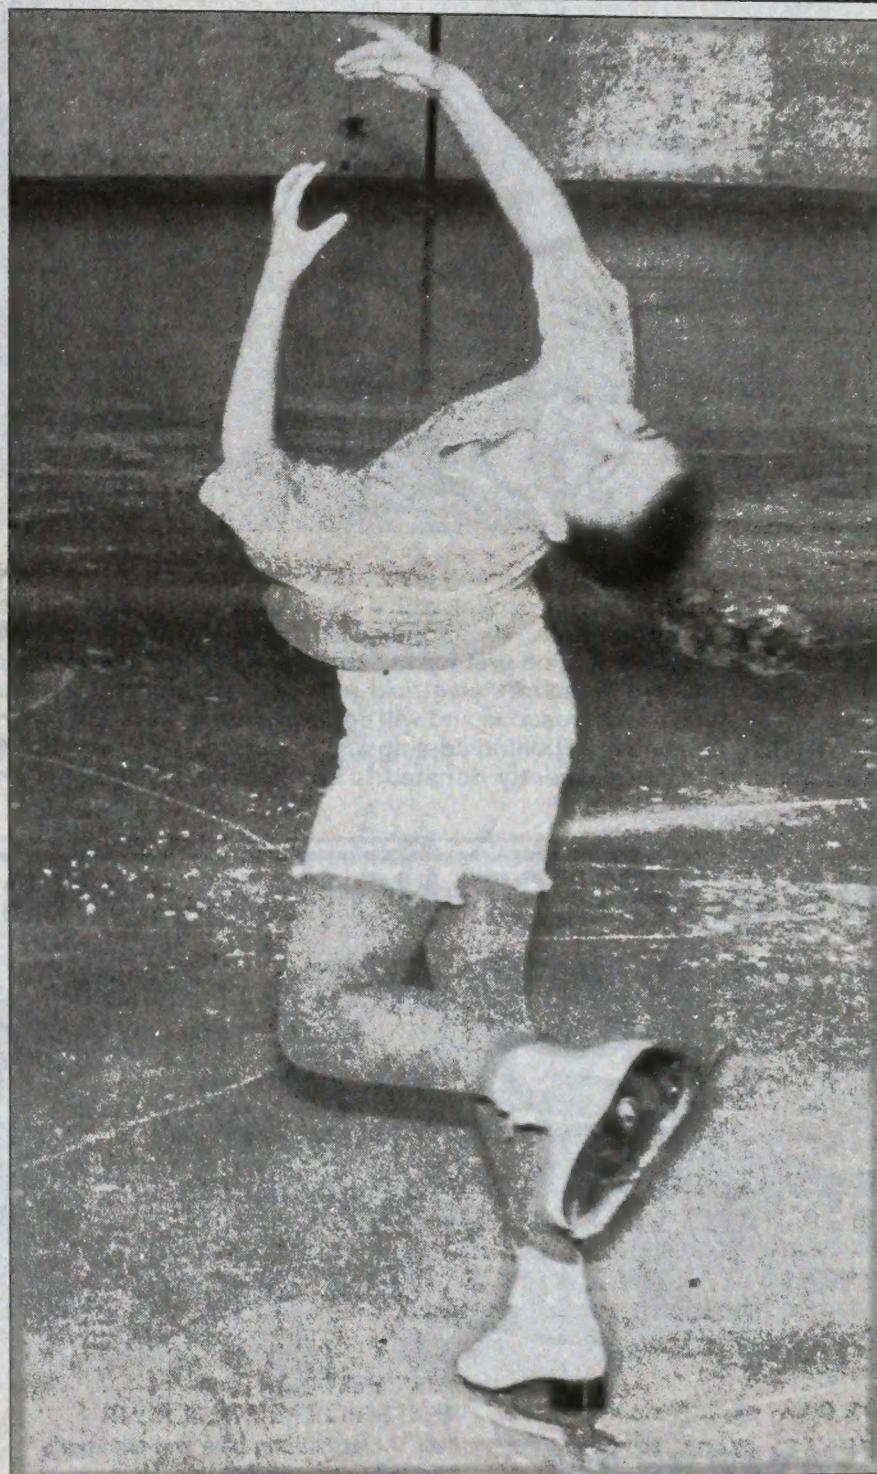

Recommendation 3: That the community policing committee, with the support of local municipal councils, petition the provincial government to examine the staff levels at the Minden detachment of the OPP, with the goal of increasing the number of constables to better reflect Haliburton County's geographic size and growth in population.

Recommendation 4: That the community police committee work with the community-based officers to increase police visibility in the downtown area and promote better communication with merchants and residents.

Students get involved in new school debate

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Throughout the school accommodation debate, the one interest group which has not had an opportunity to comment is the very group which is central to the issue - the students.

But last week, a class of Grade 7 students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School added their voices to the discussion.

After studying the accommodation issue in class, the students wrote letters to the board of education trustees expressing their concerns.

"First of all, we were wondering why we haven't been asked for our opinions, considering we are the people who will feel the effects of this decision," wrote Sheamus Donnery. "Now that I've been told you have reconsidered your decision I hope you will realize that we would much rather remain in our community."

Although each student brings his or her own perspective to the issue, there are common recurring themes, such as a desire to attend school in Minden instead of being bused to a junior high school in Haliburton.

"I, since I want to live in Minden when I

Haliburton man killed in accident

A single vehicle accident on the Old Buckhorn Road claimed the life of a 20-year-old Haliburton man just before midnight on Monday, March 30. Jeffery Bounsall died after the Pontiac Fiero, in which he was a passenger, became air borne after cresting a hill, left the road and struck some trees.

The driver of the vehicle, 19-year-old Kenneth Hilliard, also of Haliburton Village, was taken to Haliburton Hospital and released.

No charges have been laid. The investigation by the Minden OPP is continuing.

Board considers expansion of smaller schools

by Susan Grober

Trustees will look into expanding the elementary schools in Dorset, Gooderham and Wilberforce to include students up to Grade 6.

At the March 24 school board meeting, Director of Education Brad Saunders told trustees the initiative would help the board maintain its smaller schools by making them more viable.

In the past, both the Dorset and the Gooderham schools have been slated for closure. Parents fought to keep the schools open, but at present they only accommodate students in the lower grade levels.

"With the parents, we will explore getting the kids on a year-by-year basis back into those schools, so we can demonstrate to the harshest critic that those schools are viable," said Saunders.

He said the overall proposal would not only benefit those schools, but would also help solve future overcrowding problems at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School, where portables will soon be needed.

Saunders also noted that there is a desire to keep kids in their local areas.

To provide an example of the plan, Saunders said the long term vision for the Dorset school is to include students from Junior Kindergarten level to Grade 6.

This would help "develop healthy enrollment to make the school self-supporting and self-sustaining," because grant money will be received for students now enrolled with other boards.

Currently, some students living in the Oxtongue Lake area are being bused past Dorset to a school in Dwight, said Saunders.

Trustee LeRoy Eager suggested the Dorset school is too small to fit all those grades.

Saunders explained that there are four rooms in the school, so classes could be doubled up, with Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten, Grade 1 and 2, Grade 3 and 4, and Grade 5 and 6 students each being taught in the same room, "with the support of the parents, only," he added.

"We'd be supposing to add one grade for this coming year," Saunders said.

The board will hold two public meetings this week to ask whether parents in the Gooderham and Wilberforce areas would be interested in supporting the initiative.

The meetings will be held on April 8 at Gooderham Community Centre, and April 9 at Wilberforce Elementary School. Both meetings will commence at 7 p.m.

Kinmount Legion President Al Jopling presents Jean Anderson, the nursing administrator of the Minden Hospital, with a cheque for $3,500 to cover the cost of equipment purchases. The money donated by the Legion will be used to buy a portable suction unit for the emergency room, a tonometer (which measures eye pressure), electrical protection equipment for the computer system, a laryngoscope and will complete the installation of the patient lift equipment. Just behind Jopling and Anderson is the new heart defibrillator which was recently donated to the hospital by the Minden Legion.

grow older, do not believe that it is fair to bus children for an extra two years," said Jessica Berry.

Stacey Walker agreed. "I feel we shouldn't have to be bused to Haliburton to get to a junior high. It's not right that we have to leave our community and adjust to a new school (at a new location), when we could have one right here in Minden."

In addition to studying the issue and writing letters to the trustees, the students also discussed accommodation options in class and voted on various aspects of the debate.

A majority of the class supports the idea of a junior high school, as long as it is located in Minden, and the students are willing to delay the availability of some courses, like design/technology and instrumental music, until high school if it would allow them to remain in Minden for Grades 7 and 8.

In their letters, the students express disappointment at the lack of public input in the decision making process, and several make particular mention of the fact that students were not asked for their opinion.

At the most recent meeting of the board, trustees agreed to review all accommodation options, including the one presented by Minden residents Doug Campbell and Bryan Kernohan, at a special public meeting on April 15.

Letters address many concerns in school debate

The following are three of the letters sent by Grade 7 students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School. We regret that space restrictions prohibit the publication of all 19 letters.

Dear Trustees,

I am a concerned student of Archie Stouffer Elementary School and recently my fellow classmates and I have been reading about the accommodation issue. We thank you for reconsidering the plans that you have already made, we think that took courage.

Our main concerns were location and the amount of space. I personally don't like the idea of a junior high. I like the idea of an addition to the Archie Stouffer school or, if lots of people don't object to a junior high, I would rather have it in my community, Minden. The reason why I would rather have it in Minden because we will already be going to Haliburton for high school and if we go to junior high there too, that will be about seven years of busing. If however, we have the junior high here, we will be there for only four years. It would be fairer to both Haliburton and Minden students if travel times were divided up equally.

I noticed that some of the people in our community who have written to The Times feel the same way I do and I'm very grateful that they were willing to express their opinions to the public. I hope that more people will speak up and say what they think because they might have an idea how to solve this problem.

Sincerely,

Amanda-Jo Thomas

Dear Trustees,

We are writing you concerning the debate with regard to the accommodations of Haliburton County students. We think that if we have to go to Haliburton for five years the students of Haliburton could at least come here for three years.

We also have not figured out why you did not accept Campbell and Kernohan's plan. It would have saved you $1.6 million. We have all the room you need here in Minden, and if you put another school in Haliburton it would decrease the growth of Minden. Parents would think, "Why bother busing my children to Haliburton for seven years, I'll just live there."

We are also writing you to congratulate you for reconsidering and looking the options over again. We feel proud to have a board that recognizes its errors.

Sincerely,

George Godfrey

Jonathan Fast

Dear Trustees,

Recently my class has been going over the issue of the accommodation problem within the Haliburton County school system. I realize some ideas had to be rejected because of problems but I have one question for you. Why was the public not informed about the reasons for these plans being rejected?

We think you have a lot of courage for admitting that you might have made a wrong decision and we are glad you are reconsidering the issue.

Most of my class, including myself, are wondering why the students of the area were not asked to put forth an opinion in the matter at stake.

I believe the students are just as significant as the adults. I believe we (students of ASES) should not have to go to Haliburton Village for Grades 7 and 8 when we already have to go there for Grades 9, 10, 11, 12 and OAC.

Sincerely,

Raymond Ranson

Local tartan fading away

Lack of interest in pattern

by Susan Grober

Blue, green, white, red, gold, brown. Each of these colours represents an aspect of the Haliburton Highlands which makes this area special.

When these colours are intertwined, they make up a tartan which symbolizes this county's heritage, and its beautiful landscape.

Blue for lakes; green for forests; white for snow and for the trillium, our provincial flower; red and gold for the splendour of autumn; brown for the earth, furbearing animals, and the work of the early pioneers of Haliburton County.

This Monday, April 6, has been declared throughout the province as Tartan Day. And locals can feel a special sense of pride to know that Haliburton has its own tartan.

Next year, we celebrate the tartan's 30th anniversary. Unfortunately, because of the sagging popularity of our tartan, perhaps we should be lamenting its pending demise.

The tartan was initiated in the early 1960s by members of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. Because of the county's rolling hills, similar to the Scottish Highlands, it was thought that a tartan would be the perfect thing to promote the area.

In 1963, the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce commissioned a woman from Loomcrafters in Gagetown, New Brunswick, to come up with suggestions.

Once a pattern was chosen, it was registered to the Chamber as an authentic tartan, and the fabric was woven at a woolen mill in Scotland.

The tartan fabric had to be ordered from the mill a year ahead of time, and the Chamber had to purchase a minimum of three bolts.

The fabric was distributed through the Chamber, and also through a number of stores, says former Chamber member Bob Stinson.

"At the time, the Chamber had a number of items made up, and sold them around in the stores," says Stinson.

Purses, bow ties, caps, wallets and key cases were just some of the items manufactured.

"It was a fairly expensive proposition," says Stinson. "But it was getting to be a bit of a problem, because it was too expensive. We had a lot of money tied into it. And it was expensive to replenish the inventory."

So in the early 1980s, Vince Connaughan took over the inventory of the tartan to sell in his Stedmans stores in Haliburton and Minden.

"I said I would buy it through them if I could have the exclusive rights to sell it, but they didn't really promise me that," says Connaughan.

Since that time, it seems Connaughan might as well have exclusive rights to the tartan, because it's just not selling.

At first, Connaughan only sold the tartan cloth, but he had other souvenir items made up in later years when business was booming in Haliburton County.

Today, Stedmans still carries such items as tartan pens and eyeglass cases, as well as the fabric.

But Connaughan says it has become very expensive to keep it in stock, and he's not sure if he'll be able to re-stock it in the future.

At least 180 yards of the fabric must be ordered at a time, at a cost of about $5,000. "But it's been five years since we had the last batch ordered," since the fabric isn't selling well.

"It has to be promoted," says Connaughan. "And at the time I bought the inventory, the Chamber was still doing promotion of it."

"Before, with anything they would do, the tartan was always mentioned," he says.

During her time as Chamber manager, Shirley Rapson was a great supporter of the Haliburton tartan. She even had a suit made up in the tartan fabric, and would wear it whenever she was out promoting the county.

"Everywhere she went, the tartan was at the forefront," says Connaughan.

As financial restraints forced the Chamber to tighten its budget, that promotion has since tapered off.

"It should be brought back," says Connaughan. "Now when we sell out of the tartan, I do not believe that I'm going to get more stock."

"If you want the tartan, you have to have the authentic tarmiliar with the doomed fate of the Haliburton tartan.

And she hopes there is some way to resurrect its popularity.

"We're one of the few counties in Ontario that has its own tartan," says Mansfield. "It's a beautiful tartan and, through Highland dancing, I've seen a lot of tartans in the last few years."

As the owner of Sandalwood Gift Shop in Minden, Mansfield currently has a window display promoting the tartan.

Still, she says her interest in the tartan runs deeper than just the commercial aspect. Mansfield says the tartan is a great way to promote the county as a whole.

Many of our local Highland dancers wear the tartan outside the county, and Mansfield says its characteristic pattern has garnered quite a bit of attention.

"People are always saying to me, 'Oh, I didn't realize Haliburton has its own tartan.'"

The tartan fabric costs just under $30 a metre, and a kilt for a competitive dancer takes about seven to 10 metres. "It's extremely expensive," says Mansfield. "Any wool tartan is expensive."

In competition, the dancers can also wear a white dress adorned with a piece of tartan fabric, or an aboyan outfit with a full skirt, blouse and vest, and only one metre of tartan fabric.

Mansfield feels its important that the dancers wear the Haliburton tartan, "so we can dance out of the county, and be an ambassador for the area."

Noting the popularity of the Haliburton Highland Games, Mansfield says the tartan provides another way to promote tourism in all areas of Haliburton County. "And I really feel that we need a boost county-wide right now."

"After his many years endorsing the tartan through the Chamber, Stinson also feels it would be a shame to see it lost.

"It's a valid concern," he says. "It was a great idea at the time that they (the Chamber) did it, and it would be unfortunate if we lost it."

"It's kind of a unique thing. It's what people call a bastard tartan, because it represents an area, instead of a clan."

Connaughan says the tartan nearly died out once, when the Chamber could no longer afford to stock the fabric, and it was Stinson's efforts which helped resurrect it. But unless there's change now, he feels the tartan may die out.

"That's what it has boiled down to, because nobody else will invest the $5,000," he says. "I think it's a shame, I really do. But somebody has to pick it up and do something with it. Somebody has to take the initiative and manufacture the product."

One local business owner who has done his part in promoting the authentic tartan is Brian Dean, of Gift House North in Haliburton Village.

For the past three years, Dean has been purchasing tartan fabric from Stedmans and shipping it out east to be manufactured into such keepsake items as dolls, plaques, fridge magnets, eyeglass cases and sachets.

"We find that tourists really like it, and local folks who travel abroad take small things like bookmarks along with them to use as gifts," says Dean.

"We haven't gotten our summer supply yet, but we'll buy more tartan from Vince and ship it out east."

The products are made in Lower Onslow, Nova Scotia. But Dean would like to see some of our area's talented people start a cottage industry and manufacture such items locally.

"We could have people making ties, kilts, hats and caps. It always seems strange to me that we don't use the tartan more. I've seen magnets and other types of crafty things. There aren't a lot of things out, but I've seen some."

As a local piper and founding member of the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band, Earl Cooper has spent quite some time wearing kilts made of the Haliburton tartan fabric.

The band started in 1970, and first went on parade on April 30, 1972. The event was the Legion Auxiliary Zone Rally, and the band members proudly sported the tartan kilts while marching from the Legion to the cenotaph, and back.

Cooper recalls how he had his first kilt made 27 years ago, and wore it when he piped at the wedding of Walter Hobdon, who is now teaching school in Eganville.

The kilt was made in Toronto, and a local woman copied its style to make the first kilts worn by the Legion band. A few years later, the band had its kilts made by a woman in Lindsay.

Two years ago, the band members switched from using the local tartan fabric, and had a similar tartan loomed in a heavier kilt weight.

Cooper has heard his fair share of the age old question, what does a piper wear under his kilt? "I just look down and say, 'I wear my shoes.'"

In Scotland, kilts are the equivalent of the tuxedo for men's formal wear, and Cooper feels just as comfortable wearing one as any Scots man would.

Cooper is especially proud to wear his Haliburton tartan kilt, as he did when he and his wife Eleanor travelled to Scotland.

"We went to check into a bed and breakfast place, and as soon as I spoke the girl said: 'I didn't expect to hear an accent like that from someone wearing a kilt.'"

When Eleanor was in Montreal a while ago she wore a Haliburton tartan, and got an interesting response.

"This girl came up to her and asked, 'Do you know what you're wearing?' It ended up she was a Hewitt girl from Minden."

There's no dispute that the Haliburton Highlands tartan has made an impact since it was first registered in Scotland nearly 30 years ago.

According to Nila Reynolds' book, In Quest of Yesterday, the tartan was designed by Patricia Jenkins, proprietress of the Loomcrafters company. Other tartans by Jenkins include the Royal Canadian Air Force tartan and the New Brunswick tartan.

Reynolds even wrote a poem about the tartan, which she included in her book, and it was Cooper who provided the inspiration.

"Nila was down here one time, and I told her what each color was for, and she said, 'That should be in a poem,'" says Cooper, who can recite the lines of the poem off by heart.

The following is Reynolds' poem, just as it is printed in her book:

HIGHLANDS OF HALIBURTON TARTAN REG.#193-25772

In the far off Scottish homeland.
Color speaks a chieftain's name.
Strength and valour, pride of family,
Tartans flaunt abroad his fame.
Such a voice lauds Haliburton
Wide proclaims a Highland birth,
Tells of love and pride enduring,
Heritage in sky and earth.
Green of forest, blue of waters,
White of trilliums, pure as snow;
Brown furred creatures, brawny workers,
Red and gold for autumn's glow.
Spun and tinted, loomed and blended,
Tartan's pledge rings down the years —
"Here's to the Haliburton Highlands, Promised land of pioneers."

Getting involved

Adults in Haliburton County can learn something about participatory democracy from a group of Grade 7 students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

The students have responded to the recent debate over school accommodation and, although not yet old enough to vote, they became involved, on a political level, in an education system which is supposed to represent their interests but rarely asks for their input.

During the public discussion on the question of school accommodation, there were concerns about the effect additional busing would have on children, how large a single school should be, whether a junior high school provides a suitable educational environment, and the impact on the community of moving students from Minden to Haliburton.

And yet, no one bothered to ask students for their input on these issues.

Judging from the quality of the letters sent to the trustees by the students, they are far more capable of reasoned debate and declaring their own interests than we seem willing to give them credit for.

By speaking out, the students have learned a significant lesson about the process of political activism, and the importance of getting involved in issues of importance, which will stay with them long after the current question is resolved.

At the same time, adults can also learn from the experience of the students. Despite the fact that the students are still five years away from legal voting age, and were being overlooked by the other players in the debate, they still took the time and effort to become informed on the issue and take action.

That attitude is something we should all remember the next time we gripe about being ignored by government, or complain that our interests aren't being listened to by politicians.

As bad as things are, at least we're not France

France: a country where the impossible always happens and the inevitable never does.

I believe it's time for we Canuks to count our blessings.

Sure, times are tough. The ozone's melting away faster than a politician's promise. The economy's in the dumpster. Quebec's upstairs slamming drawers as she packs valises, shrieking this is absolutely, without doubt, the last night she'll spend in this crummy house.

And it is slowly dawning on the Indians that, hell, they're the landlords of this joint.

three centuries.

So times are tricky. Treacherous even. But cheer up. It could be lots worse. The Free Trade Agreement, for instance. Imagine if, instead of shackling ourselves to the United States and Mexico, Canada was lining up to join the European Common Market.

Then, my friends our Canada Goose would be well and truly cooked.

Because then we'd have to deal with France. And that way lieth confusion, hysteria, madness and death.

It's not that the French are pig-headed or impervious to reason. Au contraire. They have honed civilized discourse to a glittering, laser-sharp edge.

Which in the long run, alas, has the same effect as being dumb as a crowbar.

Junior high school is not the answer for students

Editor:

I have read with interest of the attempt by the school board to move grade 7 and 8 children out of the local schools and into a junior high school in Haliburton. I urge parents to fight this action.

As a parent who fought long and hard with the Toronto Board of Education to try to preserve one of the last K-8 schools in the city, I have looked at the research on the advantages and disadvantages of junior high schools.

Research shows that changing schools at the beginning of grade seven is particularly stressful to children at a vulnerable age. The loss of self esteem, particularly in girls, and the increase in anonymity, has been well documented. Children who are entering puberty do not need additional changes in their lives and this is particularly true of children who may have other family stresses to cope with.

Research has also shown that children who stay in a K-8 situation do better academically and have less difficulty in adapting to high school than do children who are moved in and then out of a junior high school. The argument that the junior high school prepares children for high school is spurious and unproven, but is used by school boards to justify what is essentially an economic decision.

Anyone interested in a synopsis of the research can write to me at the address below with a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will be happy to send it.

Opening a success

Editor:

The Haliburton Community Housing Corporation wish to thank you for helping to make the Official Opening of Echo Hills Legion Apartments such a memorable occasion, not only for us, but for the residents there and this community.

The ceremonies were enjoyable, entertaining and informative, we feel, even though a mite crowded. A big step taken after a long trek. We are proud of the final outcome after hundreds of hours of work put in by so many. With this final stage, it was gratifying and pleasurable to be surrounded by those people who care, our friends and supporters, to share in this joyful day.

As in any occasion of this kind, we sincerely thank those who contributed to the success of this event, not only by attending, but also through participating. The "pipes" added a distinct flavour, the greetings were warm adding a personal touch despite the cold blustery day outside, the dedicated service ensured us that this is now "home" for all the residents, filled with love and blessing.

All these things contributed to those essential ingredients that made this project "a dream come true" - a time of elation and happiness for us all.

Sincerely,
Clifford A. Dawson,
President,
Haliburton Community Housing Corporation.

Board decision welcomed

Editor:

The Archie Stouffer Home and School Association would like to wholeheartedly thank the Board of Education for re-opening the accommodation issue.

We would also like to thank Bryan Kernohan and Doug Campbell for all the hard work they have done on behalf of the taxpayers.

We look forward to hearing more about this important issue at the next board meeting on April 15.

Exemption loss protested

The following is a letter to Finance Minister Don Mazankowski from the Miskwabi Cottagers' Association.

Dear Mr. Mazankowski:

On behalf of our 200 member families and one thousand ratepayers in our area in the Municipality of Dysart et al, County of Haliburton, Province of Ontario, we wish to register a formal objection and complaint against the February '92 Federal Budget whereby the lifetime capital gains tax exemption on seasonal residential property (cottages) has been removed.

We recognize that there is a transition formula but with the passage of time, that just deteriorates what was understood to be a lifetime Capital Gains Tax Exemption of $100,000. However we regard the budget amendment as discriminatory and unfair.

Other than in their estate planning the majority of these families have no other opportunities to use the Capital Gains Tax Exemption. They did not buy their cottage for speculation or investment purposes, but rather as a refuge and place of solitude for their family. Typically, the Exemption has been used when the cottage is passed from one generation to another.

We protest this decision by the Federal government and ask for an exemption for seasonal residences whose owners have been counting on the $100,000 Capital Gains Tax Exemption as part of their estate planning. We await your reply.

J.G. Strickland,
President,
Miskwabi Cottagers' Association

Contracts should be opened

Editor:

I have read with interest your article "Trustees comb through budget". An example given was windows not being replaced because the maintenance budget has been cut from $294,000.00 to $128,000.00.

I would suggest that the Board should consider the latest statement made by Tony Silipo,

Minister of Education. I quote: "I am disappointed in the school board's lack of creativity around budget cuts. What is wrong with opening up the collective agreements with teaching and other staff."

In these hard economic times, shouldn't we ALL share the misery of cutting costs?

Rambo and Nutty Professor are cultural icons

The French are a tough, hard-headed lot, who haven't changed since Caesar characterized them in his Gallic Wars as 'short, stubborn, with round heads.' I might add that those round heads are filled with big, gray brains, which they are taught to use at an early age...and they possess a collective will that is the positive aspect of their homogeneous society."

Yeah, well...maybe, Adrienne. But if they're so smart how come they ain't rich? If they've got all that know-how, how come the French change political administrations about as often as most people shuck their socks? Britisher James Cameron writes that, "The simple thing is to consider the French as an erratic and brilliant people...who have all the gifts except that of running their country."

That would explain their political eccentricity. But there's something else about the French that puzzles me.

It's their sense of humor.

Specifically, why do they think that Jerry Lewis is funny?

I should amend that. Jerry Lewis is funny. Everybody thinks Jerry Lewis is funny.

Until they reach their eighth birthday, after which they move on to higher comedy.

But not the French. They love the guy. Awarded him one of their nations most prestigious cultural honors a few years back.

And now the French have compounded the felony. Did you hear who France's Minister of Culture honored for excellence in the Arts last month?

Sylvester Stallone.

No, I'm joking. The monosyllabic centerpiece of Lord knows how many Rambo and Rocky re-runs was named an officer of the Order of Arts and Letters.

Stallone and Lewis as cultural correspondents. Go figure.

In fact, go figure the entire Gallic mystery. "How can anybody govern a country that has 350 different kinds of cheese?"

That's not an original observation. Somebody else asked the question long before I did.

A chap by the name of Charles de Gaulle.

Report offers recommendations

Recommendation 5: That the community police committee, in conjunction with the detachment, OPP command, and interested volunteers, investigate the feasibility of having the downtown office staffed by civilian volunteers.

Recommendation 6: That a system be set up in cooperation with village merchants to ensure prompt and efficient warning of criminal activity such as fraud or shoplifting.

Traffic Safety in the Village

Concern was expressed over the traffic safety, especially along the portion of Highway 35 which runs through the village, particularly at the intersection of South Water Street and the highway (across from Valumart plaza), and at the intersection with Main Street.

Several people said the intersection should be controlled by traffic lights. The possibility of lowering the speed limit was also discussed.

Recommendation 7: That the committee compile the necessary background information on traffic volume and safety on Highway 35 from the intersection with Highway 121 toward Kinmount and the intersection of Highway 121 toward Haliburton Village. The committee will then work with the municipality, the OPP and the transportation ministry to develop appropriate solutions including, but not limited to the placement of traffic signals and adjustment of the speed limit.

Community-based Programs

Several of the seniors asked about implementing a Block Parent program to provide a safe haven for children in trouble. The possibility of a Community Watch program was also discussed.

Recommendation 8: That the committee enquire about the status of Block Parent and Community Watch programs in the village, see if such programs are warranted, and investigate the possibility of either putting these programs in place or revitalizing them.

Bicycle Safety

Several parents of school-age children expressed concern that the use of safety helmets is not in wide practise, and noted that many children ride on sidewalks instead of the road.

Recommendation 9: That a regular bicycle safety program be initiated for school children and the possibility of a subsidized program to assist in the purchase of helmets for children be investigated. The possibility of a safety program should also be looked into, given the concern of snowmobilers riding on sidewalks.

Community Officers and Kids

It was noted that students are familiar with Constable Mike Maybee, whose duties as the Community Relations Officer often take him into local classrooms, but there is no such familiarity or relationship with the three community police officers assigned to the village.

Recommendation 10: That the committee request that the three community-based officers be included in classroom programs and perhaps a special visit could be arranged to introduce the students to the three officers and community policing could be explained.

Municipal Playground

One parent was concerned about the condition of the playground equipment located on Pritchard Lane, behind the municipal building. There was also mention that the area is used as a hangout by teenagers, which may deter children from taking advantage of the facility.

Recommendation 11: That the police committee ask Deputy-Reeve Lewis Stevens to find out what, if anything, council can do to improve the condition of the playground and equipment.

Following presentation of the report, Campbell and members of council discussed the various recommendations.

Regarding the third recommendation, Reeve Bern Berry said he's not sure if provincial restraints will allow for increased funding. "I don't know if there's anything anyone can do," he said. "We all feel slighted that we don't have enough manpower."

As for the seventh recommendation, Campbell said although he finds it "highly undesirable" to put stoplights on the highway, he feels it's important to gather statistics on the traffic in the area.

Of the recommendation for a youth drop-in centre, Campbell noted that Stanhope's "Soda Club" has proven to be a great success.

He said young people want a place to do a variety of activities, from talking to reading and tossing a basketball to listening to music.

Campbell was impressed with the focus of the young people who attended the meeting, and said many of them were "surprised that someone actually asked them and took an interest in them."

Some people at the meetings felt the recently expanded community centre would provide a suitable location for the centre, but concerns arose over the cost of rent for the facility. Also, some preferred a location more centrally located to the downtown core.

More study of former landfill needed

by Susan Grober

The following matters were discussed during last Thursday's Lutterworth council meeting.

More study

Council passed a resolution accepting a proposal for additional hydrogeological tests on the former Steeles landfill site.

The proposal from Golder Associates estimates the cost of the tests at $13,480, and states the whole program should take six weeks.

Councillor Maurice Boyd said council should make sure the test results are done in time. "Let's hold him to the six weeks," he said.

Property owner Joe Sammut wants to apply for severances on the entire 200 acres of property, and will be asked to attend a meeting with council, and representatives of the Ministry of the Environment and Golder Associates when the results of this test are completed.

In the meantime, Clerk Mary Jane Irwin told council that the township just received the results from previous hydrogeological tests, which determined that water from two wells drilled on other areas of the property is safe to drink.

Arena assistance

Council praised the work of Lutterworth's representative on the Minden Recreation Committee.

George Moulton has attended the committee meetings for the past seven years, and provides Lutterworth council with regular reports.

Councillor Lisa Mercer noted that Moulton is the only committee member from a township other than Minden who has been asked back to the committee.

Although residents from several other townships use the Minden Arena, Moulton is the only steady committee member representing another township. "There's only been one other person from another township, but he dropped out," Moulton told council.

As it has done in previous years, Lutterworth Township will provide $50 for each of its residents who take part in minor hockey and figure skating at the Minden Arena, at a total of $1,350.

Council will have Moulton present the cheque to the municipality.

Flower sale will benefit kids

by Pat Campbell

To raise money to help care for kids in our area, Campbell's Garden Centre in Minden and Country Rose in Haliburton are launching "Carnations for Kids" week to benefit young patients at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

Our "Carnations for Kids" week is part of an annual effort nationwide to help provide medical treatment for all kids. You can support our fundraising efforts by helping to promote the sale of carnations @ $2.00 each ($1.50 of which will go directly to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children) at your workplace during the week of April 6-11, 1992.

The proceeds generated will be used for equipment, patient care, education and research. The hospitals associated with Children's Miracle Network (CMN) treat over 5 million children each year for all types of afflictions - cancer, heart and muscular diseases, birth defects and aids.

If you are interested in being involved in this very worthwhile cause, please contact us as soon as possible. We will deliver to your business, Monday, April 6th, carnations for you to distribute. If you would like to be involved, please contact myself or one of our staff at 286-1640.

To assist in ordering, it would be appreciated if you could find out from your staff the approximate numbers of carnations they would be interested in purchasing. Also, if you feel that walk in customers of yours would be interested, we will supply extras. Please keep us posted on your supply so that we can keep the availability there during the week. The annual CMN Telethon is scheduled to air on CFTO-CTV on May 30 and 31.

Lorraine Turcotte and Anne Neave of Campbell's Garden Centre display the carnations which will be sold as part of the "Carnations for Kids" promotion, which will support the Children's Miracle Network.

We sponsor miracles.

We are proud sponsors of the Children's Miracle Network. Buy a "Carnation for Kids" from your local stores, offices, schools and wherever carnations and Children's Miracle Network posters are displayed. $1.50 of every $2.00 carnation purchase price will go directly to Toronto's Hospital For Sick Children.

Echo Hills Apartments opened

The 40-unit Echo Hills Legion senior citizens apartment complex was officially opened during a ceremony on Friday, March 27. The $3.6 million housing development is sponsored by the Haliburton Community Housing Corporation and supported by the Haliburton branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. The official ribbon cutting was performed by (from left) resident Darlene McElwain, HCHC president Cliff Dawson, Ministry of Housing representative Marty Ginsberman, contractor George Wiggers, Legion President Ed Pickard and Chris Hodgson, reeve of Dysart et al.

Report also given to OPP

that the Archie Stouffer annex building might be an appropriate location once the school board no longer needs it to accommodate students.

As for the skating rink idea, Councillor Grant Plooard suggested that the track used for ice car races at the fairgrounds could be used for skating during the week.

Campbell agreed the track could be made smooth enough, but said the problem is that the area cannot be lit at night. Instead, he said, the tennis courts next to Staunworth Court would be an ideal location.

Council informed Campbell that Parks Manager Ivan Ingram is looking into the matter.

Campbell was also told that the parks department regularly checks the condition of the equipment at the municipal playground.

After the discussion, Campbell pointed out that not all of the recommendations can be carried out by members of the community policing committee. "We have a full agenda right now," he said.

Campbell also presented the report to Minden OPP Sergeant Steve Adam and Staff Sergeant Bill Elliott last Monday.

The committee also plans to organize a meeting to present the report and the recommendations to members of the public.

The community policing committee is comprised of representatives from business, youth, municipal council, seniors, and the OPP.

Atoms capture tournament trophy

The Minden OMHA Atom Hockey Team enjoyed a successful trip to Meadville Pennsylvania this past weekend.

The hockey tournament started for our team on Saturday against the host team Meadville.

The boys had just finished a long bus trip and night away from home but found their skating legs early and scored first with Danny Jordan driving home a excellent pass from Nick Kulas. Meadville tied at 1 to 1 before the first period ended.

In the second period Dan Jordan scored from Wayne Kernohan and Blayne Saunders. Again Meadville came back to tie the score at 2-2. In the third period Steve Eccelstone scored from Dan Jordan and Nick Kulas but Meadville tied the score again.

The final few minutes of the game were tense and exciting but the score remained tied. Minden outshot Meadville 25 to 11. Meadville has won this tournament the past few years so a tie in our first game against them was a very positive start to the weekend. The coaches Brian Shaw and Jerry Jordan were proud of the boys who played extremely well considering the excitement of the weekend.

The second game was later on Saturday against Mon Valley a suburb of Pittsburgh. In this game Minden out played and out shot the Mon Valley Magic but could not beat a very hot goalie. Finally, with 1 minute left in the game Ryan Anderson scored with an excellent shot under the crossbar. The goal was assisted by Dan Jordan and Chris Neilson. Once again the boys played one of their best games of the winter.

After this game the boys returned home with their billets and the Minden parents enjoyed the local evening flavour of Meadville. We even had an excellent tour guide who thought he knew where he was going.

The third and final game for our team was Sunday at 7 a.m. The billets lived 45 minutes from the arena so a 5:30 a.m. wakeup call made this an early morning. To have a chance to win the tournament the coaches informed the team that they had to win the hockey game and every period. We played another team from Ontario - Flamborough. In the first period Dan Jordan scored from Wayne Kernohan and in the second period Corey Casey drove a hard shot past the Flamborough goalie assisted by Chris Neilson. To finish the victory Blayne Saunders scored in the third period assisted by Danny Vanderlip and Clay Davis. The flamborough team was unable to mount an attack and the final score was Minden 3 Flamboro 0.

The defense and our goalie Ashley Walker played outstanding all weekend and had two shut outs to prove it.

Our team had accomplished what we had to do to win the tournament but Meadville had a chance to win in their game against Mon Valley.

Our team was torn between cheering for the boys who they had met and lived with for the weekend (Meadville) or Mon Valley who could help Minden win the tournament. If Mon Valley won or tied the game or even tied a period Minden would win. Meadville dominated the game but in the second period Mon Valley scored with 10 seconds left to tie the period at 1-1. Meadville won the game 3-2 but the Minden Monarchs had won the prestigious Crawford County Youth Spring Hockey Tournament and the president of Meadville's association immediately congratulated coaches Shaw and Jordan.

The excellent coaching by Brian Shaw throughout the season was exemplified by the disciplined, focussed play by every player throughout the weekend. Congratulations! The trip was a tremendous success and concluded an excellent season by Minden Atoms.

Parents of the Meadville teams commented more than once how impressed they were with the well-mannered, neatly dressed young men on our hockey team. The Minden parents and the Minden Minor Hockey Association are extremely proud of these boys and their accomplishment throughout the year. Congratulations to the "Minden Atoms USA '92 Champions."

Discovering the fun in the forum

It was a mixed student and teacher cast which took the musical, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, to the stage last week at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Included among the players was English teacher Bob Penfold and math instructor Louise Cooper, along with 18 student actors and numerous support personnel, all working under the direction of teacher Wayne Cooper and his assistant Martha Steen.

The musical comedy is perhaps one of the most challenging tried by the high school drama club, and while there were some rough edges, the players had a great deal of fun presenting the show for the two nights. Forum is jam packed with witty lines that were sure to delight the audience, as they did.

While the musical comedy uses ancient Rome for its setting, the plot has been seen in any number of time frames and locales. Unrequited love, identity confusion and the struggle to rise above one's station in life are all elements of this enjoyable romp through the time of the toga.

The cast and some of the members of the crew gathered for a group photo during the dress rehearsal of The Forum last week. The citizens of the Forum included, from the left, front row, Jim Dewey, Chris Crane, Jenn Oitment, Cassie Weyrich, Robyn Raeburn, Kelly Raeburn, Marcus Letourneau, Ron Reid, Anna Edwards, Jenna Stutt and Sarah Lewis. Second row, Keith MacKenzie, Ryan Smith, Erin Lynch, Lisa Ranson, Ted O'Connell, Yvette Foster, Rebecca Wilson, Jamie Hill, Bob Penfold and Louise Cooper.

Philia and Hero, star-crossed lovers, played by Lisa Ranson and Ted O'Connell, share an embrace during the action in the HHSS production of A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum. The musical comedy was presented last Thursday and Friday at the high school.

flow of the well-written musical, which more than anything else, added to the enjoyment of the audience. Forum could have benefited from several more weeks polish, but, the extra effort would have stripped the fresh, bloom of spontaneity which endeared the efforts to the audience.

Of the musical numbers, the performance of Lisa Ranson in the part of Philia, the heroine, shone above all others. In solo performance, and in combination with other players she demonstrated a strong stage presence and an engaging musical talent.

The presentation of the Forum once again tapped the extensive talents of students and teachers alike at HHSS. The young people and their advisers deserve all the support the community can offer. For a school of this size to even attempt to mount a production of this magnitude is worthy of praise and encouragement.

Congratulations to all involved.

Wells for third world countries still a priority for HAVE group

Editor:

I write to you on behalf of the H.A.V.E. Committee, (Help A Village Effort) which has been continuing its work through the winter, raising money and organizing projects on behalf of poor village people of developing countries who are often desperately in need of good water.

Now that we have more than 100 wells established as well as other developmental projects, we have necessarily accepted the need to organize monitoring and evaluation. This is not easy because most of our project sites are in rural India, but two of our members, Gerry Feltham and Ish Lal have carried out some 'on site' visiting recently. Their reports will be considered and circulated this spring.

Clarence and Jean McNerny, two other members are at this time in Gambia, initiating the second phase of a Primary Reading Program which we sponsor. While there they will visit the wells which were dug under our sponsorship some years ago.

We are still much involved in the provision of good water to those in need and we have several projects currently in process.

This letter is by way of an update on our activities and also a reminder that the 9th annual Walk For Water will take place on June 6. We hope that we shall have the usual cooperation of the people of Haliburton County and elsewhere.

This will be another opportunity to share creatively our good fortune as people of this lovely area.

Watch for more publicity and plan to be a part of the effort.

Sincerely,
Fred Elson
Co-Chairman

P.S. Will those persons who still have 'coin collecting cans' which have not yet been handed in, please drop them at either Remax office, Haliburton or Minden or call Rod Henderson 754-2493.

A table awaits at the Bordertown Cafe

Highland's Little Theatre is serving up a slice of contemporary Canadiana this spring when it takes you to Alberta and Kelly Rebar's Bordertown Cafe.

Waiting is the order of the day at this family run restaurant. Marlene (Debra Dart) is waiting before she spends a dollar; her son Jimmy (Chris Bradford) is waiting for his off and on dad to show up; the Texan out front is waiting for his daily over.

According to Jimmy the place is "just total stress". He's forced to make the most important decision of his life in just one day. Should he accept his father's invitation to join him and his new wife in Wyoming where he'd have the normal home he's always dreamed of? It's a tough decision for a 17 year old, but neither his mother nor grandfather (played by John Miller) can make it for him.

The situation might be total stress for the family but not for the audience. Maxine (Irene Lubowitz) will serve up plenty of laughter to make sure you enjoy your visit to her cafe.

We can't wait to entertain you with our production and look forward to seeing you at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School 8:00, April 30, May 1 and 2.

'WHERE THE ACTION IS'

Longest grooming season for 'world's largest'

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association (HCSA) has just wrapped up its longest grooming season in recorded history. In its 21st year the HCSA has established itself as the largest snowmobile club in the world and has been recognized in many international, national and provincial publications as the leading snowmobile trail grooming club in North America. This past season the club groomed its 640-kilometer trail network using $500,000.00 worth of industrial grooming equipment from the second week of December until the last full week of March.

According to HCSA President Brian Watts, Haliburton County received more than $13 million from the thousands of snowmobilers who came to Haliburton to enjoy the club's trails. Watts says, "The importance of snowmobiling to our economy has been graphically demonstrated this winter. While most tourism related industries in Ontario are down, snowmobiling tourists have flocked to Haliburton, spent a lot of money and helped our community in a bleak economy." Watts continues, "I am very proud of the trails we groomed this winter — with only a few exceptions we had the best quality riding we have ever provided for our visitors and members. Our volunteer based grooming program logged record hours on the club's five groomers. We groomed our trails around the clock, seven days a week. Haliburton businesses owe a great deal to those dedicated snowmobilers who operate our equipment."

According to HCSA Sign Chairman Peter Overington, this was one of the safest winters for snowmobilers in Haliburton County with serious accidents down significantly from previous seasons. Overington comments, "The co-relation between good quality groomed snowmobile trails and reduced accidents has been demonstrated in very clear terms in Haliburton this winter — better trails mean less road and lake accidents. The province wide 'Ride Safe, Ride Sober' public awareness campaign has had an effect on HCSA trails as well. The HCSA had dozens of the campaign posters up on their trail system this winter."

According to HCSA Equipment Coordinator Bill Wilson, the HCSA is in desperate need of two more pieces of grooming equipment. Wilson commented, "The HCSA trail system spans some 19 townships and three counties (Haliburton, Victoria and Hastings). Our five grooming machines are taxed to the limit right now — and our traffic has reached its highest levels ever with 8000 sleds riding our trails on weekends. "We need to reduce the number of miles each machine is grooming so trail quality will improve and not deteriorate next season." Watts added, "It is time for this province's Ministry of Tourism to support capital funding of grooming equipment. Snowmobiling is not solely a sport or recreation — it's a multi-million dollar tourist business with the Haliburton County Snowmobile Assoc.

that's growing all over this Province. Frankly I'm tired of MTR's focus on the downhill ski business which revolves around a relatively small geographic area of the Province. Snowmobiling is generating nearly three quarters of a billion dollars according to a just released study-government has got a great partner in us."

Along with the day to day operations of grooming trails the HCSA has trained dozens of young people in the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs Driver Training Program. The course has been taught by two dedicated HCSA Directors Mike Burke and Larry Hutchinson.

Work has already begun on trail and equipment improvements for next seasons snowmobiling in Haliburton County. For more information on the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association address your inquiry to: HCSA P.O. Box 622, Minden, Ontario, K0M 2K0.

Happy trails until next year!

To help you fill out your income tax return

Extended hours

From February 24 to April 30, we offer an "after hours" phone service from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

You can also call T.I.P.S. Info-Tax, our automated phone service, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, for recorded information on selected topics.

No-calculation returns

To make things easier, we've designed two simpler tax returns that don't have any calculations.

These optional returns are great for people with straightforward tax situations. If you're under 65, you can use the "Short." If you're 65 or over, the "65 Plus" is for you. Whatever return you use, you should fill out only one.

Make sure your return is not delayed

Lots of people fill out their tax return with great care, only to miss details that can make all the difference. For example, if your address is incomplete or incorrect, your refund could be delayed or sent to the wrong place.

If you will be moving, write the new address on your return, or if you don't know it yet, please call us to let us know as soon as you can so we can update your file.

Another important detail is attaching all the slips and receipts that support your claims for credits and deductions. If any are missing, your return may get held up while we contact you for the information.

We're making it easier.

Changes made to tax collection legislation

If circumstances beyond your control have resulted in your being charged penalties or interest by Revenue Canada, Taxation, relief is now available.

Otto Jelinek, Minister of National Revenue, has introduced changes to make the administration of tax filing fairer and more responsive to the needs of Canadians.

As evidence of that commitment, the "fairness package" received Royal Assent on December 17, 1991. The fairness package consists of legislation that makes the tax system simpler and fairer. The new provisions apply to individuals, testamentary trusts, small business owners and corporations.

The limitations of the Income Tax Act have prevented Revenue Canada, Taxation from taking individuals' special needs and circumstances into account. For instance, an individual claiming a refund for a taxation year had to do so within three years of the end of that year. The new provisions allow for refunds to individual and testamentary trusts for all taxation years after 1984, regardless of the three-year limit.

In addition, the Department can now waive or cancel interest or penalties if they are caused by factors that are beyond individuals' control, such as when they are prevented by illness from filing a tax return by the April 30 deadline. This measure includes corporations.

from the office of Bill Scott, MP

The legislation also gives the Department discretion to allow a taxfiler to make a late amended "election", or to revoke an original election. An election is a choice among specific options on how tax laws are applied to a taxfiler's financial affairs.

The provisions also make the appeals process simpler and more streamlined. Taxfilers can now file a Notice of Objection simply by writing to the Chief of Appeals at their local district office or taxation center. Individuals and testamentary trusts now also have more time in which to file a Notice of Objection (one year from the due date of the return.)

Searching for the ecological angle in news reports

March 4 was an ordinary day in Vancouver-temperature over 10 C, rain of course, and streets ablaze with blossoms.

Listening to the usual fare of short, fragmentary reports that make up the "world news" on radio that morning, I was struck by how little real information was conveyed.

The stories fail to provide the context within which to assess them. So you'd never gather from the news the fact that the planet's ecosphere is being torn apart. Consider what we heard on one typical morning.

-Item 1: The multi-billion dollar megaproject, Hibernia, was supposed to be an economic boom to a depressed Newfoundland, but received another blow. Petrocan president Wilbert Hopper announced that unless an investor is found to replace Gulf Canada Resources Ltd., his company too would pull out.

But what about the important questions: Do megaprojects really create long-term stability in local regions? Do local people get most of the jobs? Should we invest in expensive oil development that adds to global warming? What are the risks to a sustainable activity like fishing? There isn't time to consider such questions when news clips are only 15 to 40 seconds long.

-Item 2: The Saskatchewan government is debating whether to open up more uranium mines. Proponents of the mines point to the economic potential during a severe recession, while opponents warn that uranium could end up in weapons.

Unreported was the radio-active contamination of water and fish already known in aboriginal lands. The uranium story could have made an important point: we must begin costing our activity in an ecologically meaningful way.

Uranium isn't just about jobs and revenue, but impacts health, environmental pollution, waste management and international nuclear weapons. We should be estimating true costs from "cradle to grave", but that doesn't make the news.

-Item 3: Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and Newfoundland Premier Clyde Wells, called for greater vigilance of the foreign fishing fleet that is plundering northern cod stocks.

But how credible is it when politicians who are preoccupied with the economy and jurisdictional matters, make pronouncements about ecological matters? What about their track records?

-Item 4: An American pulp mill announced that it would not give in to European demands for non-chlorine bleached pulp. Canadian companies apparently would like to do the same, but know that government legislation will force it anyway. It's never asked why staunch defenders of free enterprise and global competitiveness, untrammelled by legislation, cry foul when they are pressured from the marketplace.

They accuse environmentalists of being irrational zealots, interfering with global competitiveness or participating in an unfair boycott. But, when asked to justify logging cuts exceeding sustainable levels or dioxin pollution, they hide behind government regulations and say it's not up to them.

-Item 5: $37 million may finally be paid to the citizens of Haida Gwaii (Queen Charlotte Islands) as compensation for the decision made in 1987 to preserve Gwaii Hanaas (South Moresby) as a National Park Reserve.

We didn't learn why it took so long to establish the park, the eventual role of the Haida and the non-Native people or why the forest company, that merely held logging rights to the Crown land and did not invest any money in those public forests, has already been "compensated" with $37 million. For what?

-Item 6: Gypsy moths have been found in the lower mainland of B.C. and the government plan to spray BT, a biological pesticide, is being opposed by citizens.

Such stories are presented as gypsy moths posing a severe threat to trees vs. the hazard of spraying to human health. We don't hear whether spraying can ever eliminate an exotic arrival once it has a foothold.

Nor are we told that insects are the most numerous group of animal species on earth and that most of them are vital food for many animals, pest controls, pollinators, decomposers etc.

Perhaps one in a thousand insect species is a nuisance to human beings, yet we undertake massive programs that will impact ALL insects just to get at the tiny fraction we don't want. Is that sensible management?

March 4 seemed to be another typical day for radio news, but, if you listened carefully, several of the stories had profound ecological implications.

If news was packaged and delivered by the media in a way that sets out the broader context and links items together in a cohesive picture, we would quickly recognize that the biosphere is in serious trouble and there is little leadership or vision to deal with it. Only then can we begin to work for solutions.

Grant given for waste reduction project

Victoria-Haliburton MP, Bill Scott has announced, on behalf of the Minister of State for the Environment Pauline Browes, that Citizens' Clearinghouse on Waste Management of Cameron will receive $5,000 from the federal government in order to develop a project for Canadian Environment Week, June 1-7.

A complete waste audit and reduction plan will be developed and implemented for a model restaurant, and presented on videotape. An Environment Week breakfast will introduce the project of Citizens' Clearinghouse on Waste Management to 70 Lindsay area restaurant managers, and by cable TV to the public, to encourage them to develop similar waste-reduction plans.

The Canadian Environment Week Program, through projects like this one, best exemplifies what Canada's Green Plan is all about. The federal government's aim for Environment Week is to increase public action to protect the environment on a long-term basis.

Kids' Korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi kids!
Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the word in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Lioness Club hosts monthly birthday tea

Our regular Sunday evening chapel service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess and organ accompaniment by Alice Jones. Thank you both very much.

At 1 o'clock Monday, Evelyn Coleman was here for bible study. We appreciate her coming very much.

That afternoon we had a word contest, we had to think of words that contained certain letters, such as; "sting", "que", "ad", "ant", or two "D's". It really made our minds work. Later in the evening we had movies, shown by Pat Bradburn, "Maple Sugar Farmer", and "Singapore Crossroad of the Orient". These were very enjoyable.

Tuesday, Chapel was held by Louise Leonard, we thank her very much. The Residents said it was a beautiful service.

In the afternoon several volunteer's came in and we had an hour or two of cards and croquinoie. We had a happy time.

Wednesday, we saw a video of 40 years of Sovereignty (Queen Elizabeth's second reign). It was a good video, she seemed so natural in most of it.

The Lioness Club of Minden, kindly brought the birthday Tea Party. Those who served were, Mae Backestyn, Lorna Hawkins, Gorgina Kernohan, Joyce Wright, Doris Thompson and Ena Marion. It was a lovely birthday cake, especially for our only March birthday lady, Fern Weldon. I can't remember another month with only one birthday here at Hyland Crest. When nearly everyone (residents) had gone, Mrs. Curry wanted singing, so Linda Fry brought in her guitar. She played well known old pieces and Mrs. Curry sang right along with Linda. Our hostess joined in also, it was very much enjoyed. Thanks to everyone.

March 27, was Happy Hour again, with entertainment by the Grandfather's three, in this instance, Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon, and Charlie Hadley. As extra entertainment Linda Fry gave us a dance using a broomstick, its quite a feat. The volunteers Friday were, Mary Gullemin, Bonnie Fullan, Jenkie Thomas, Gregg Sawyer acted as the bartender, we sincerely thank the Grandfathers volunteers, Gregg and Linda. Dianna Morris read to us in the evening, for which we thank her very much.

Horticulturists welcome the arrival of spring

-Submitted-

Spring, sweet spring!

How wonderful this seems after the long winter of cold, snow and winds! The sun becoming much warmer, the snow melting, sap flowing, creeks running and willows taking on a vivid yellow colour are all welcome signs of spring.

Once again members of the Minden & District Horticultural Society are making great plans for 1992. Choosing their seeds and planning the layout of this year's gardens.

The first meeting of the year was held on February 4, when a splendid attendance assembled to enjoy a super Pot Luck dinner. Several guests were in attendance. Beryl Harris, President of District #4 was present and spoke briefly and later installed officers and directors for the year.

Lewis Stevens, Deputy Reeve brought "greetings" from our local council.

Mrs. Pat Kimbar of Lakefield, guest speaker, gave us the history and use of the Ginko tree, a tree which she now grows.

A highlight of the evening was when Beatrice Taylor, Elizabeth Carrell and Jean Lacey were presented with Certificates of Merit in appreciation of their many attributes in our Horticultural Society as well as for many other good works in the community.

The March meeting was very well attended and everyone got a great lift as we viewed a great array of spring flowers on the screen.

Members have been busy preparing the year book, which is now complete. It contains information on the yearly events. A district meeting for executive members was held in Lakefield on March 28, three members from Minden attended.

In Lakefield on April 25th there will be a spring seminar for all O.H.A. Members in District #4.

You will hear more later about the plant sale by the society on June 2.

A bus trip or two are in the planning stages for the year as well.

The Ontario Convention will be held in London, Ontario on June 12, 13 and 14. So make your plans now!

A program of events is set up for each month of the year, giving plenty of help, information, ideas and new interests for everyone. Meetings are held in the Agnes Jamieson Gallery the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. You don't have to be a member to attend; so do come! We do have a good time. We hold a draw at every meeting - lots of prizes.

There is a competition each month. This gives members a chance to participate in various categories for first, second and third prizes. These are listed in the year book - for example in April: 1. Best African Violet a.v. 2. Best house plant, a.v. 3. Best cactus. 4. Best home baked "Goodies" using apples. Each month differs. Oh yes - and we get to enjoy the goodies too. So get in on the fun and the prizes.

The second Scare Crow Contest will be held on July 2 and 3 at St. Paul's Church Hall. A few different plans have been made. The categories will be somewhat different - but challenging - and fun to do.

The 13th Annual Flower Show entitled "Circus of Flowers" will be held at the Minden Recreation Centre, August 6th and 7th. Believe me, we have a great prize lists, lots of prizes - so join us. There is a section for photography this year. Great plans for decorating and for setting up are in the making.

However, before some of these events take place, you will see members planting tubs and beds around the area to enhance the beauty of our surroundings.

Members work for the love of it. We do love a great time at O.H.A. meetings. The membership is $3.00 which entitles you to all privileges of the society.

The April Meeting will be very informative as we will be instructed how to prepare beds for planting - April 7th at 7:30 - keep that date posted.

Yes, we have refreshments each time, a splendid way to end up a happy evening - a time to talk, to share and to make new friends.

The executive is made up of 15 persons who would be happy to give you information and to supply you with a year book: Verne Graham, Jean Robson, Illa Cooper, Ann MacDonald, Lynn Hancock, Marion Ingram, Annie Kernohan, Betty Gwen Cox, Muriel Green, Milford, Lloyd Graham, Irene Fuhr, Edna Taylor, Marion Hill and Jean Cox.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

A birthday tea was held last Wednesday at the United Church for Florence Robinson. About 25 people attended the celebration to wish Florence many more happy years.

At the Legion euchre games on March 26 winners included Orval Francis and Mary Wilson for most lone hands while others were Ivan Kernohan, Iris Taylor, Helen Skelding and Grace Dixon. Draws were won by Grace Dixon, Norm Lee, Ivan Kernohan and Jeanne Sears.

We are pleased to report that Celia Brown has returned to her home in Lochlin after some time in a Peterborough hospital.

Mary Cox spent last weekend in Phelpston with Jack and Ethel Cowan and family and attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Verna Bulkowski.

Florence Robinson was pleasantly surprised last Sunday when she arrived at the home of Jack and Janice Shaw to find Bradley, Maggie and Donna Robinson, Grace and Ern Voycey of Gamebridge and Eileen and Paul Cockburn of Woodville there ready to celebrate her birthday.

Zion UCW had their regular meeting April 1 with guest speaker Gordon Monk. The UCW planned their Friendship Tea for Wednesday April 8 at 2 p.m. with the theme of a Bunny Hop and garden hats are to be modelled by senior members. Sounds like a lot of fun!

All good wishes for a return to good health soon to Peter McCormick, Bob Clark, Sherri Simmons, Bill Campbell, Alice Morrison, Betty Davis, Ian McLaughlin, Don, Carl Francis, Lee Oster, Sadie Kitcheman, Mary Busby, Hazel and Sherman Johnson and anyone else we have missed.

Mabel and Bill Clendenning are home after an enjoyable holiday and visit with relatives and the U.S.

Club 35 euchre games held March 30, winners included Bill Matthews for most lone hands, Edith Russell and Ray Brown high lady and man and Jean Scadden for the 50/50 draw. Other winners included Ellen Klok, Harold Culley and Edith Russell.

Yvonne Guida called the other day to say how proud she is of her son Michael and his wife Angela who are opening a new restaurant in Ruislip, Middlesex, England, where they previously had three men's clothing shops. Their elder son Richard is a practising lawyer in London and their younger son, Michael, is at Oxford University and upon graduation plans to become a producer.

Wayne Vick of Toronto enjoyed last weekend with his parents Audrey and Bob Vick.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Jeffrey Bounsall, Dr. Joe Bonyun, Violet Penrose, Frand Luffman and Clayton Leitch whose funerals were since last week.

Many people enjoyed the euchre games at Lochlin Centre last Tuesday. The next games will be held April 14.

Beth, Dave, Robbie and Carolann Titus were weekend guests with Bertha Hughes.

Vera Smith, Mary McKelvey Sr., Pearl Cowen and Irma Pasquino visited Nancy Ackerblade in Brampton last Monday.

Winners at the first Tuesday afternoon Legion Seniors Club held March 31 included, for most lone hands Helen Lee and Jack Chilton (on a cut) while others were Jerry Schmidt, Mary Wilson, Iris Taylor and Olive Hamilton. The games are held alternate Tuesdays and the next one will be April 14 at 2 p.m. The club's next meeting will be held April 8 at 2:30 p.m. in Minden Legion.

A gigantic pie sale will be held by the Minden Lioness Club on Saturday April 18 starting at 10 a.m. on Main Street in Minden. Sounds yummy!

April 1 was very special as quilters worked on the quilt made and donated by Laura Kirkwood to the County Town Museum. The quilt was set up at Hyland Crest with their craft group and they will work on it again on April 8. The committee will be selling tickets on this beautiful quilt to raise funds for the Museum.

All good wishes to Judy Stevenson who is making slow progress at a Barrie hospital.

Next Bid euchres will be Wednesday April 8 at Stanhope Firehall at 7 p.m. with everyone welcome.

By the time you read this we hope you remembered to put your clocks or watches forward for Daylight Savings Time. Hope you weren't late for any events.

Heat exchangers should be checked on Flame-master model furnaces

Up to 2,000 homes across Ontario may contain furnaces with cracked heat exchangers that can endanger the health of occupants.

The fuel safety branch of Ontario's consumer and commercial relations ministry warns, that homeowners with Flame-master FM series natural gas or propane furnaces should have them checked immediately by a registered heating contractor or fuel supplier. The ministry said cracked heat exchangers can allow carbon monoxide, a colourless and odourless gas, to be released into the home and could cause death. Symptoms include headaches and nausea.

For further information contact the Ministry of Consumer Relations, fuel safety branch at 416-234-6030.

If you have a question that needs answering or would like help completing an application, contact your nearest Information Centre for assistance.

In Haliburton, the office is located in the Drag River

Municipal building, Maple Avenue, open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. phone 457-2733. For residents of the Minden area, the centre in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal building, Milne Street is open Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. phone 286-4100.

The search is on for Mrs. and Captain Highliner in Minden. See Dollo's IGA ad on back page for details!

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Jane Elizabeth (Lily) Hogg wish to thank their relatives, friends, Monk Funeral Home, Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home and Rev. Ed Moll for all the kindness shown us in our sorrow in the loss of a mother, grandmother and great-grandmother.

Our sincere thanks and appreciation to all the people who sent cards, flowers, phone calls and food to our home during the loss of our beloved. A special thanks to my family who gave their support without hesitation during the many years Bob was ill, especially my mum whose moral support and companionship on those many trips to Toronto kept me going and to Jack Brezina and Jay Kerr-Wilson for the lovely article and editorial they wrote.

The McCausland Family.
